

I believe that taking the "established business relationship" qualification from this regulation will be detrimental to business. Especially to not-for-profit associations to which the person belongs. How are we supposed to get information to our members?? You would be forcing all of these agencies to spend tons of money on mailings they do not have a budget for. I think this is an irresponsible approach and should be amended.